TELLS HOW FIRES WERE STARTED

Kandler Describes How 56 Hours Were Spent in Carefully Preparing Building for Big Blaze

Eddie Kandler of Paris street, East Boston, State witness in the "arson trust" trial in the Suffolk courts, today, under cross-examination, detailed the long task of preparing a Dudley street building for a fire, as a result of which four alarms were rung in last February.

Harvey H. Pratt was cross-examining him. Kandler said it took nb out 56 hours' work to prepare the building for the fire, and that this work consisted in shifting lumber, removing some things, and breaking holes through the walls so that the fire would take hold.

Kandler, a confessed firebug, demonstrated in court with two cigarettes and a box of matches how they set the fire. The cigarettes were lighted and left in such a position that they would burn slowly down till they ignited the matches.

He had previously testified to the actual starting of the fire, and he claimed there was an agreement between Sam Lichner and Sam Levine by which he and three others were each to receive $150 for starting the fire.

He had testified that he, Issy Leventhal, Jake Leventhal and Jake Small set the Dudley street fire.

PREPARED BUILDING.

Q.—What did Small say to you, and you to Small? A.—Lichner said he wanted that building burned, as he had had two fires there before and got nothing out of them.

Q.—How many days did you go to the building before the fire? A.—I was there February 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15.

Q.—Who went with you? A.—Jake and Issy Leventhal.

Q.—How many hours were you there each day? A.—Oh, two or three or four.

Q.—Why and how did you and these other men spend fifty-six hours getting the building ready for firing? A.—Oh, we spent the time sorting the timber and breaking holes and putting lumber in the rooms.

Q.—Did you move lumber in or out of the janitor's apartment? A.—No.

Q.—Did you break holes in the tailor's apartment? A.—Oh, yes.

Q.—When? A.—Tuesday. Issy Leventhal did it.

"PULLED DOWN PLASTER."

Q.—How? A.—He got up on a ladder and pulled down the plaster.

Q.—Who else was there? A.—Jake Leventhal and Small.

Q.—What was done with the plaster? A.—It was put in another corner, in a hole I made.

Q.—What did you do with the lathes? A.—Put them in the holes so the fire could get hold of them. We broke them up.

He testified that they told the tailor who had a shop in the building about the fire, and he said he did not want to be there when it started. A man stood up in the court, and Kandler identified him as the tailor.

He said they did not tell the plumber in the building about the fire.

Shows on Stand How He Started Fire

Eddie Kandler of East Boston, State witness in the "Arson Trust" case, demonstrating on the witness-stand with a cigarette and a box of matches just how he set fire to a Roxbury building. The match box was opened with the match heads pointing outward. The cigarette was lighted and placed on the matches, so that when it burned down to the match heads they all blazed up at once. In the firing of the building inflammables were placed close by so that the flame from the matches spread rapidly. The photograph was posed especially for the American today.

Germans Shell French Positions

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Oct. 26.—French troops on the Vaux-Douaumont line northeast of Verdun were violently bombarded all night by German artillery, the French War Office announced today.

It was indicated that the Germans were preparing for another great series of infantry assaults in an effort to win back ground lost to the French on Tuesday.

The situation generally was unchanged, the communique said.

The latest attacks of the French on the Verdun front were made in the direction of Ft. Vaux, indicating that the next big drive would be launched against the German holding that position.

The War Office statement told of the exploit of a French airman, who, while 100 yards above the ground, opened fire with a machine gun against a German artillery column.

The official report follows:

"At Verdun the situation is unchanged. The enemy did not attempt any counter-attack during the night. He violently bombarded the sectors of Vaux and Douaumont.

"Everywhere else the night was calm.

"A German aeroplane was brought down near our lines in the region of Vauquois.

"One of our pilots descended to within 100 metres of the Germans and attacked with his machine gun an enemy artillery column on the Consenvoye-Etain road. He caused disorder among the drivers, who fled, abandoning their vehicles."

RUMANS HURL FOE BACK

Teutons Driven Across Transylvanian Border, Says Bucharest; Enemy Trapped, Is Berlin Claim

London, Oct. 26.—In a desperate stand against the Teutonic forces, the Rumanians have driven the foe back across the Transylvania border, according to the report of the Bucharest War Office today.

Reports from Petrograd correspondents the Bucharest statement saying that the Russo-Rumanian forces have checked Von Falkenhayn on the Transylvanian front.

Rome wireless dispatches received here say that the Carporada bridge over the Danube, the biggest bridge in the Balkans, has been blown up by the Russo-Rumanian forces. This is the only bridge between the Black Sea and Belgrade, and was reported in Berlin advices to have been captured by Von Mackensen.

In Dobrudja, the Petrograd dispatches say, Von Mackensen's attacks are rapidly lessening in violence.

Against these reports is a report that the Rumanian Who and his staff escaped has fled from Bucharest to Odessa.

Rumanians Trapped Is Claim by Berlin

By International News Service.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—A large force of Rumanians is trapped between the Danube and the Black Sea, and face surrender or annihilation, Fresh Russian reinforcements have made their appearance on the Rumanian battle front, but despite their presence the armies of General von Falkenhayn and Field Marshal von Mackensen continue to sweep Rumania.

The thunder of battle is rolling nearer to Bucharest. The Austro-German army that stormed Vulcan Pass is approaching Targu Jiu, at the edge of the Rumanian plain.

The relentless pressure of Von Mackensen's hosts in Dobrudja continues. The Russo-Rumanian soldiers trapped between the Danube and the Black Sea, west of Caracal, must surrender or be driven into the swamps that flank the river and annihilated.

(Caro-Oman is 70 miles north of Constanza.)

VAST STORES DESTROYED.

Great quantities of supplies were destroyed by the Rumanians before they gave up Constanza and Cernavoda to the German allies. Much oil and grain was thrown into the sea and into the Danube to prevent the capture by Von Mackensen.

The Rumanians are reported to have tried to wreck the twelve-mile bridge at Cernavoda. Dispatches from Sofia today indicate however that Von Mackensen's engineers can put the bridge in good condition again with little trouble. German

5 Dead, 15 Missing and Many Injured in Institution in Which Escapes Were Said to Be Faulty

Farnham, Que., Oct. 26.—Five persons are known to be dead and 15 others are missing as the result of a fire which destroyed St. Elizabeth Hospital and laundry here during the night.

More than a score of children were injured by jumping from windows. Three hundred and fifty inmates were asleep in the building when the fire broke out.

The fire is believed to have started from a defective chimney. It spread so swiftly that the 350 inmates were unable to reach safety before many of them were surrounded by the flames.

Patients and employes fought in wild attempts to gain the exits from the building.

Startling revelations are promised when an investigation is begun. [illegible] fire escapes are said to have always proved defective in emergencies.

The twenty-five or more children who were injured flung themselves from the burning building to the pavement below, when it was found no stairways were available for their descent.

Nearly all inmates of the building were asleep on the third floor.

DEUTSCHLAND LIKE INFERNO, SAYS KOENIG

Captain Paul Koenig's story of the voyage of the Deutschland to this country was continued today. He described the difficulties of navigation and of calculating their position from the submarine's conning tower, he told how the men took sea baths in the submarine's tanker, he described the beauties seen through the conning tower ports as the boat cruised just before the water.

Further passages dwelling with the disguising of the "submarine, and with the sufferings of the crew during a storm in the Gulf Stream read thus:

"The next day we had an adventure which alarmed us unpleasantly. Although it ended entirely differently from what we expected.

DISGUISED AS FREIGHTER.

"During the few calm days we had prepared a clever disguise which would change us from a submarine to a regular steamer. Out of sail cloth we had made a smokestack which, with steel rings, we could fasten to the periscope and raise it up.

"To cover the conning tower we had a dressing of sail cloth, so that it would look like the deck house on a small freight steamer. In this way we made ready for any possibility and directed our course through the beautiful sunshine until one evening at 7.30, a steamer appeared ahead of us on the port bow.

"We knew at once that he would pass close if we continued on our course. We changed it a little, swung off a few points in order to test our disguise.

"The smokestack is hoisted on the periscope and belching out in the wind in order to make it more real and with a fire in the other pipe, using cotton soaked in oil for fuel.

RUSE IS SUCCESSFUL.

"At the same moment, the conning tower disappears under the somewhat saving cover which trembled in the breeze, but the cotton lacks its honor and only stinks. There is no smoke coming from it. Every one is standing and staring with cheeks puffed out, until our "tradeloz," a fiery Berliner, fetches an air pump and gets a big flame in our fake stoke-hold.

"At one hurrah his trick is rewarded, above the smokestack's upper opening we could see a slender stream of smoke, only to disappear the next minute. We roar with laughter and each one make ready to proceed with our dummy smokestack minus smoke.

"When our bontawain, Hanse, comes with a jar filled with tar, the air pump again starts to work and at last big clouds of smoke pour out of the funnel. The effect was great. The steamer, which was at a distance, suddenly changes its course and comes straight for us. This we had never expected. I therefore ordered the mask taken down and make ready for diving. Our canvas covering disappears from the conning tower and with a deep bow the smokestack comes down.

"As soon as the steamer sees this change in our bearing fear fills his heart. He changes his course and flees, throwing thick, black clouds of smoke which, of course not without a feeling of jealousy.

"Without hindrance we again hoist our funnel, the masts are raised. And while our steamer speeds away in her world flight we laugh so the tears run down our cheeks.

IN MIDST OF STORM.

"June drew near its close and also to our regret the fine weather faded. The swells from the southwest and the absence of the current which we had hoped to help us on our way were signs that a storm was brewing in the south and was coming up the Gulf Stream.

"The temperature of the water rises constantly and shows at least 28 degrees centigrade. We are in the Gulf Stream which fills its surrounding atmosphere with the bursts of fire of a terrible tropical thunder storm.

"The wireless telegraph apparatus is affected by the strong electric discharges in the air and stops working. Hitherto it had told us every day from the station at Nauen faithfully of the reports of the general staff.

"The weather become angrier. We have a rough sea; heavy hail stones whip against the deck and lash the frothing waves.

MAKES ROUGH WEATHER.

"Over the boiling ocean hangs the dark clouds from which, without ceasing, flash long streamers of lightning. Then it certainly becomes black as ink between the sparks of light, while the ocean around us is illuminated by the flashes, throwing up a greenish glare which shows the white in all her details.

"Suddenly behind us appears the running lights of a large steamer. In the darkness of the night we turn away from him unseen. At some distance he passes us, lit up by the flashes and looking like a phantom of the deep. It is a passenger steamer, as one can determine from his course, since he is coming from the Pacific. I have to admit it with a feeling of jealousy that I looked at his lights until the ruin and darkness again devoured him.

"Next day the rough weather reached its height; volcano like squalls sweep around us; the air is filled with the spray of the waves which the storm is driving before it. At the same time we are disturbed which painfully lashes our hands and face. The rain is so thick that you cannot see.

LIKE AN INFERNO.

"One has to keep a piece of glass before his eyes in order to keep any watch. The boat is labouring heavily. The waves are throwing it about so that it creaks and groans in every joint. Often it makes such a rolling and jumping that it is hard to hang to the "bath tub."

"But up in the conning tower it is nothing as compared to the conditions below decks, especially down in the machine room.

"In this tremendous sea all the hatches must be battened down. Even the conning tower hatch can only be open now in a while. The two large ventilating machines are working continually sucking down fresh air from the sea through the carefully protected shaft, which is devoured immediately by the stingy Diesel motors. And in their ungratefulness, these wild animals breathe out only heavy, suffocating heat filled with the sickening oil fumes which is now driven through all oil quarters.

LONG FOR FRESH AIR.

"In the Gulf Stream the temperature of the water was 28 degress centigrade —the air about the same. There is no fresh air coming in and in the machine room there is a tremendous heating of the explosions of the six-cylinder motors. The horsed gas rushes out in the boat through out through the ventilator, but the heat remains in the cylinders and imparts itself to the oil-dripping surroundings. A choking heat cloud and the steam heavy with oil spreads out from the motors into the room. The temperature rises in these days to 53 degrees centigrade.

"In such a hell lived and work human beings. Groaning and blood off watch lying in their bunks. It was impossible to sleep and if ever one for a moment was about to sleep he at once awoke because of the dripping sweat to more suffering.

"How long will it be possible to stand this? I did not keep a diary on these days and I find only these entries: 'Temperature cannot go higher if it is to be possible for the men in the machine room to survive.'

"But they did get through. They stood there as heroes; they did their duty. Weakened, sweat-dripping until the storm centre was behind us they worked on. Until it began to clear outside and the sun broke the clouds and the abating sea permitted us to open the hatches again, they fought it out.

"Then they came out from their hell, pale as corpses, dripping with oil and reeking with sweat, covered with dirt and grime, up into the bright daylight, and joyfully sought the sun, as happy as if for the first time it was shining for them."

WAR SUMMARY

The battle for the bridge across the Danube at Cernavoda is under way today. Official and unofficial dispatches said that Russian reinforcements from Bessarabia were assisting the Rumanian efforts to block any crossing of the Danube. The Rumanian army, which has been driven north of the Cernavoda-Constanza railroad will probably be almost a total loss, as there are no railroads to feed it, and no bridges across the Danube by which it can be supplied. It is caught in the angle of territory made by the Danube as it bends to the sea; and the river itself with a wide marshy belt prevents its escape. It is probable that the attempt to seize a bridgehead on the western side of the Danube will not be seriously pushed until the destruction of this trapped Rumanian army can be completed.

The size of this force can only be guessed. It is known that the defensive lines south of the railroad were heavily held; and Constanza and Cernavoda were undoubtedly heavily garrisoned. The swiftness of the German attack drove the entire Rumanian force northward at a headlong pace. The proportion that was able to escape across the Danube bridge or by boats was probably small.

Even now there is no certainty that an attempt will be made to crush Rumania, for already the Teutonic allies have made the whole line of the Danube their defence against any drive by Russian and Rumanian troops southward toward the Berlin-Constantinople railroad. They can well afford to be satisfied with what they have done, and rest on the defensive here; and if the Rumanians and Russians together are able to offer strong enough resistance to make the invasion a costly task, the Teutons will probably remain where they are.

The French stroke at Douaumont was followed by a lull today. The French captured about eight square miles of the hundred and thirty taken by the Germans in their attack on Verdun. The territory fought over had been most bitterly contested, however; and it has perhaps cost more lives than any other equal area on the French battle line unless Dead Man's Hill can rival it.

The French success demonstrated that the lines at this point were lightly held by the Germans. But it did not demonstrate that the Germans are seriously short of men; for no such serious shortage can be inferred so long as the Teutons are able and willing to concentrate a force sufficient for an active campaign against Rumania.

The French suggests, however, that the time is drawing nearer when open field warfare will return.

TEUTONS IN HOT FIGHT FAIL AT VERDUN

Paris, Oct. 26.—The French have made further progress northeast of Verdun despite the utmost efforts of the German Crown Prince to halt General Nivelle's surprise offensive.

In twelve hours the Teutons have launched five tremendous counter attacks, their principal efforts being directed against Douaumont, Haudremont and the Damloup battery. All the attacks broke down before the French artillery and machine guns.

The number of prisoners taken by the French has been increased to 4,500.

Great German reinforcements, hurried to solid train loads from the Somme, not only failed to stem the ground lost north of Verdun, but by nightfall had definitely ended the proposed counter offensive in Picardy, it is believed here.

Details are beginning to reach Paris of Nivelle's tremendous stroke.

80,000 MEN IN ATTACK.

Four French divisions, 80,000 men, were concentrated on the east bank of the Meuse for the blow, it is stated. The German were taken completely by surprise that their lines might have been lost, in Douaumont fort the German commander was made prisoner. He was found in a dugout. In all more than 150 officers have been captured by the French.

The latest French attacks were delivered on the right wing of the front east of the Meuse. They resulted in considerable progress to the Fumin and Chenois region.

Before the French had time to consolidate their redeemed positions the Germans delivered their first counter attack. The hot fire poured into their ranks broke it up. A second attack, launched at night, similarly failed.

Reinforced by divisions from other sectors and from the Somme front, the Crown Prince struck again in the morning in a series of terrific lunges. Three times the Germans drove forward only to fail.

RENEWED BURSTS OF JOY.

The latest news, showing that all the recovered positions have been firmly established, has caused renewed bursts of rejoicing here.

It now appears that General Nivelle, desiring more elbow room on the front east of the Meuse, had been secretly preparing for weeks to strike the Germans unawares. He watched closely their every movement, the reports of air scouts being of the utmost value in this work. Finally, his moment struck. The Teutons had withdrawn men to the Somme and the Aisne, and had trusted that the thin screen before Verdun would hold until the time came for renewed operations there. Then Nivelle drove forward.

The attack was launched in four columns. The first smashed forward between the slopes of Pepper Hill and Thiaumont Farm, carrying the farm and redoubt of the same name and pushing as far as the Bras-Douaumont wood, a distance of a mile.

The second column under General Mangin advanced even more rapidly, sweeping the Germans from Hill No. 320, crashing through Caillette wood and to the very approaches of Fort Douaumont itself. The fort was surrounded and the German garrison trapped.

During the night French troops fought their way into the ruined work and finally succeeded in gaining complete possession.

Norway Appeals to England in U-Boat Crisis

By International News Service.

Amsterdam, Oct. 26.—In view of the critical situation that has developed between Germany and Norway, the Norwegian government has decided to postpone its reply to Germany's submarine note. The German note, which was practically an ultimatum in tone, was a protest against Norway's refusal to allow submarines of belligerent powers in her territorial waters.

It is understood here that Norway has appealed to England for aid if Germany declares war.

In the meantime German submarines have been devoting their attention to Norwegian vessels, and nearly 200,000 tons worth of Norwegian shipping has been destroyed within the past twenty-four hours.

BIG BRITISH LOAN AFFECTS MARKET

New York, Oct. 26.—Announcement of the new British loan of $300,000,000 has explained the recent activity in the stock market. This announcement is no surprise, because the financial world has believed something of the kind for days. It has brought out earlier than otherwise might have been the real decision on the rapid growth of Wilson sentiment. The bankers feel that this financing should be done before the election in order to make certain of a strong stock market for its launching.

Not the slightest doubt exists that a Wilson election will break the stock market for certain, but that the opposite will be the thing will cause many persons to withdraw until there is a definite decision. Such a supreme bull market as election will be the biggest bull card Wall Street has ever had since the war began.

A leading operator, who is the President's spokesman in the financial district, says that Wilson is the first constructive President the country has had for many years. Since McKinley's time the Presidents have vied with one another in attacking high finance.

Necessities of the allies are no great that they can take no chance of failure in this new loan. The early announcement of it is therefore no evidence of a political scare, but simply proof of abundant caution.

That speculative Wall Street has been thinking along this line was proved by the weakness which overcame the general list when it became known that the loan would be announced. There was general profittaking in great volume. All the favorites moved downward, but were not permitted to go far enough to cause any demoralization.

ENGLAND MAY SEND AID FOR RUMANIA

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 26. — War Secretary Lloyd George's declaration that the allies are helping Rumania was followed by a report today that England would send an army into that war theatre. England has already sent a big force into Russia, for use in the Caucasus, and this force may be diverted and used against the armies of Von Falkenhayn and Von Mackensen.

NEXT BIG DRIVE AGAINST ITALY

By CAMILLO CIANFARA.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Rome, Oct. 26.—If the Germans conquer Rumania their next great campaign will be launched against Italy. It is believed by many military critics.

The Berne correspondent of the Idea Nazzonale telegraphed today that plans are already being made in Berlin and Vienna for a great concerted attack against Italy and that materials are being gathered. The army groups will be composed of Germans, Austro-Hungarians, Bulgarians and Turks. Germany will furnish all the artillery and most of the other supplies needed.

One of the two main army groups will be commanded by General von Falkenhayn. It is said, and the other by Archduke Carl, an heir to the Austrian throne.

The details of the campaign are being worked out by Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German general staff.

The purpose of the proposed offensive against Italy is to try to make this kingdom seek a separate peace.

ODDS ON HUGHES DISAPPEAR IN SUDDEN BOOM OF BETTING

With the Presidential election less than two weeks today, betting took a sudden boom today.

General odds on the results of the election were even money, though here and there excessive partisanship on one side or the other shifted them.

Hughes in New York was picked at even money, at 20-19, at 10-9, and in some cases at even better odds. In Cleveland Wilson was a 10 to 9 favorite.

In Boston, however, betting was generally even—with the Hughes men shy.

One offer of $2,500 on Wilson at even money went the rounds today without finding any takers.

With the betting on the results so even there was a disposition to make specialized bets on the results in given States.

In New York there was a sudden flurry of betting on the result in Ohio, in general the odds were 10 to 7 in favor of Hughes, in some cases 10 to 8 was the price, and in one bet Wilson was made a 10 to 8 favorite.

EVEN MONEY IN WALL STREET.

On Wall street betting on the general result was at 10 to 9 yesterday, but at even money today.

Odds of 10 to 7 that Hughes would carry New York were offered, but found few takers. There were several even money bets that Wilson would carry New York by 75,000. The betting was 5 to 7 that Hughes would carry the State by 100,000 votes.

Tex Rickard was in New York making bets for himself and friends on the Ohio result. Here are some of the wagers he laid:

One bet of $7,000 to $10,000 for a prominent citizen that Ohio will go Democratic. John A. Drake took the Hughes end of it, and the money was deposited with Rickard & Co., bankers and brokers, of No. 61 Broadway.

One bet of $25,000 Ohio money to $25,714.28 put up by Al Smathers that Ohio will go for the Wilson column.

One bet of $5,000 by Rickard with his personal funds against $5,000 by Al Smathers that Ohio will go Democratic.

One bet of $1,000 to $600 on the general election, Hughes to win.

"I saw one straight bet of $10,000 even money on the general election placed with J. K. Bernhard & Co." said Mr. Rickard, "and just one $25 of $1,000 to $600 on the election, and that Wilson will carry Ohio. That is the only bet I have observed so far making Wilson favorite. Odds on the Hughes money to speak of floating around here on the result in Ohio.

WILSON TO BE FAVORITE.

"Some of the earlier Hughes enthusiasts are now trying to lay off what they took days and weeks ago, hence the shifting of odds. There is no doubt in my mind that Wilson will go to the polls a 10 to 7 favorite in the general election. Everybody laughed at me for saying that Ohio will make Wilson a favorite, and I succeeded in placing my money on the President at 7 to 10. Right now I could split my bets and make a very handsome profit.

"Most of the betting is 9 to 10 with Hughes the favorite. Whitman rules at 10 to 6 or 10 to 7, and Seabury men are holding out for 10 to 6.

"All the betting I have seen on Illinois, which isn't much, figures at 10 to 8, with Hughes the favorite. The woman vote is making Illinois doubtful. But one thing is certain, the announcement of Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, that he has raised the wages of 3,500 women employes of his plant to a minimum of $5 a day, after a long talk with President Wilson, is going to help some where women voters are concerned. I am told on good authority that Mr. Ford intends to spend $100,000 for advertising Mr. Wilson in this campaign.

"IT'S IN THE AIR."

"It is a curious thing to watch the shifting political sands and observe how the wind is veering around in favor of Wilson. There is a good indication of it right in this corral. Three weeks ago the Irish bartenders and the German waiters were strong for Hughes. Now it is just the other way, they prefer Wilson.

"Nearly all the help here is Irish and German. Talk to them as I have done and try to learn the reason for this change. They can give you no substantial excuse. The preference for Wilson seems to be in the air—that's about all there is to it.

"However, I think you will find the meat of the whole proposition in this influence toward Wilson is that he has kept this country out of war. It is of course, as every one knows, a terrible thing to contemplate what happened to the Lusitania, but when even the bravest of us pause to reflect what war would mean, the fact that we are kept out of it has tremendous weight.

"A day or so ago I read somewhere a homelike sort of argument, the sort that the working man ponders deeply. It was to the effect that the working man has right now instead of a full dinner pail a whole Lunchbox, or his grub in and a Ford car to take him to work."

RUNAWAYS TERRIFY WOMEN SHOPPERS

Several women shoppers narrowly escaped serious injury just before noon today, when a heavily-laden express wagon, drawn by two driverless and frightened horses dashed through Summer street, near Washington. An elderly man, refused to give the police his name, leaped from the sidewalk and brought the horses to a standstill.

BAY STATE PRINCESS IN BRIDAL SPLENDOR

Photograph of Princess Boncompagni, who was Margaret Preston Draper, as she appeared when she became the bride of the Italian noble. The gown was made of heavy lustrous satin and rare old lace. The five-yard train, of silver brocade embroidered in pearls, was the most beautiful ever worn by a Washington bride.

DENY WILLEHAD IS BASE FOR U-BOATS

Officials of the North German Lloyd here today denied as both false and ridiculous the assertions that the steamer Willehad at Woods Holl, Mass., is a "secret telegraph station" for communicating with German submarines.

The use of the vessel for such purposes would be impossible under the United States government restrictions, they said.

That the Willehad, which sailed from Boston to New London last August is being used as a secret telegraph station for undersea boats, was charged in a cablegram from London.

This cablegram states that two letters, intercepted en route between Boston and Germany, bear out the assumption that the Willehad has been the U-boat wireless base.

The first letter is said to have been by Max Weltsch from No. 461 East Eighth street, South Boston, to his brother, Gusta.

This letter reads:

Dear Gustav: The Willehad sailed today. I am here to stay till the end of the war. The Willehad will act within the American three-mile limit as a telegraph station for submarines. She has four months' provisions on board.

The second letter is said to have been from Captain Jachens of the Willehad and is claimed to have been addressed to his father. It is also said to have been dated from London, and reads:

Dear Father: I am now here as captain of the Willehad. The Kolin still lies at Boston. I am here with the Willehad on a special mission. Later you will hear more from me. Jachens that I have done something for the Fatherland and that I still have more to do.

Princess Andrea Boncompagni, in spite of the fact that as Margaret Preston Draper she was the richest girl in Massachusetts, and in spite of the fact that her life has lain in the ultra-circles of Rome and Washington society, is just like any other girl.

For she and the Prince, immediately after their marriage, left for their honeymoon; and they did not go to Palm Beach, or Bermuda, or on a yachting trip, or even to Rome.

They went to Niagara Falls, Mecca of honeymooners since the days when the Indian and his bride used to come and sit on the cliffs above the Rapids and shout to make their love-words heard above the roar of the tumbling waters.

The Prince and Princess went to Niagara Falls. Thence they will tour the Middle West, and afterward secure for Rome.

FATHER LEFT HER $8,000,000.

Margaret Preston Draper is a Massachusetts girl, even though she was born in Rome. Her father was General William F. Draper, former ambassador to Rome. Queen Margherita of Italy was her godmother, and presented Miss Draper with a marvellous string of pearls, which is famous. From her father Miss Draper inherited some $8,000,000. She has lived with her mother in Washington since her father's death.

Cardinal Gibbons performed the marriage ceremony. It was a double ring ritual. Miss Draper wore her famous pearls, as well as a diamond corsage ornament presented by her mother. The ceremony was performed in an improvised chapel in the drawing room of the Draper home in Washington.

The bride wore her veil over her face during the ceremony, in accordance with the ancient Italian custom, throwing it back when the marriage was performed.

Miss Draper herself was calm throughout the ceremony; but the Prince showed signs of nervousness, and kept looking uneasily around throughout the proceedings.

RECEIVE POPE'S BLESSING.

A cablegram signed by Cardinal Gasparri, from the Vatican, was read as the ceremony concluded. It said:

"The Holy Father heartily wishes lasting Christian happiness to the newly married Prince Andrea Boncompagni Ludovisi and Miss Margaret Preston Draper, and gives the requested apostolic benediction."

The wedding gifts were many, costly, and closely guarded. They will not be sent to Italy until all fear of a submarine attack upon the vessel carrying them is ended.

MELROSE CHIEF TO SEE CHILD SLAYER

Police Chief George U. Kerr of Melrose started suddenly at noon today for Springfield, where Francis Ducharme, self-confessed murderer of three-year-old Leona Kaesar of Chicopee, is held in jail.

Chief Kerr's departure was in connection with the police theory that Ducharme may have been the man who slew six-year-old Loretta Whitfred Wahelin of Melrose on June 1, last. When Ducharme confessed the Chicopee atrocity, and later was identified as a man who had been seen in Holyoke the day that six-year-old Lillian Begley was murdered a year ago, the police instinctively thought of the Wahelin tragedy.

The Melrose crime has remained a mystery, baffling the Melrose officials, the State police and numerous private individuals who tried to solve it.

When Ducharme was being taken to Springfield jail he is reported to have told the men in charge of him that his parents lived between Lynn and Salem, and that he had frequently visited them.

CAUSED SPECULATION.

This statement caused speculation whether Ducharme could be placed in that vicinity at the time of the Wahelin tragedy—June 1.

Ducharme has since refused to discuss the Lynn or Salem end of his movements, although the Chicopee police have tried to check up his movements for the past year.

BALLOON PEDLERS AGAIN ARRESTED

Jacob Ruben and Moses Ridner, aged twenty-one and nineteen years, respectively, of Hillerica street, have been arrested for peddling watermelon balloons without a city license. They sold their wares on the steps of the postoffice, where they were safe on account of its being a federal building. Patrolman Whitten caught them unawares. This is the fourth time they have been arrested for the same offense.

MAINE POTATOES TOUCH HIGH MARK

Bangor, Oct. 28.—Potatoes today are higher in Aroostook County than ever before at this time of the year, the market taking a sudden jump from $3.25 to $3.60 and $3.70 a barrel. Potato men say this is unprecedented.

PREACHER HEAD OF VIGILANTES FOR GIRLS

Accused of the continued depredations of hoodlum gangs about Hudson square, last night reached a climax last Sunday, when Deacon Walter Savage was slugged until he was unconscious and girls of the Hudson square Baptist church taunted, stoned and insulted, and announce that dreadful acts will be taken to break the power of the gangsters.

At a meeting of the parishioners of the church, the Rev. Howard H. Harris presiding, it was decided to organize a vigilante committee to escort the girls and women of the parish in and from church and home.

Chief of Police Hurley will this week assign to two members of the congregation a special policeman, and with additional patrolmen put at work in the section, it is believed the hoodlum makers will be effectually quieted.

ONE CULPRIT FINED.

Complaints have come to the police of the constant use of the reign of terror which the gangs about the section have created. One of these complaints was made Thursday, Sayage and as a result an arrest was made, and the culprit was fined for disturbing the peace.

Since then the Deacon and members of the parish have been subjected to insult, principally at night.

Threats were frequent that the Deacon would be punished for his stand against the hoodlums. It came Sunday night. While escorting a party of girls from the evening service, the Deacon was sandbagged and beaten into the unconscious.

That the Rev. Mr. Smith feels decided to take the matter into his own hands, is a result of the action of the congregation, a vigilante committee was organized. Chief Hurley was notified that the men and women, not the women, his men would defend them.

Chief Hurley proffered every assistance of the department. Two men will be assigned to the special duty, and additional patrolmen will be put into the section.

MAYOR INTERESTED.

Mayor Nichols has also taken up the matter and announces that he will put a measure before the Municipal Council at its next meeting to provide funds for additional patrolmen for the police department. Other steps may be taken to break up the hoodlum gangs which have become a menace.

Insults to the young women of the neighborhood are the greatest annoyance, according to the complaints, though instances are cited where old or women have been made the targets for the attacks of the gangsters.

Because of the fear entertained by people of the vicinity of the more lawless who have split "button speech" complaints, the chances to the police to identify the gang have been greatly lessened.

Those who have made these charges, it is said, have suffered the destruction of their gardens in the night and other acts of depredation have been committed in retaliation to the charges.

CROWDS INVITE WORRY.

"We must have better protection for our district," said the Rev. Mr. Smith in explaining his action. "I do not blame the police," he said, "for I realize that their officers cannot be at all places at once. At the same time the people about here are good at close to allow these outrages against their women and girls.

"It is said has been a common thing to see a crowd of ten or fifteen street loafers offer insults to women passing them. It is a shame such conditions are allowed to exist. For this reason the vigilante squads are to be organized to try and clean up this district. The police have promised to swear in some of our men as special officers and we may be able to handle the situation by ourselves.

Mrs. Edwin Bethune, pastor's assistant, reports the attacks on the deaconess and the insults to the gangs. Wreaks of her house have been broken and her property destroyed and other members have made similar complaints.

BELIEVE WOUNDED HUNTER KILLED SELF

Ashland, Mo., Oct. 28.—Arthur Hartford was found dead in a field today. Red Head Day, Note Name, Sets Food Fair Aflame

Users and children with red hair, whose yesterday's drop of new Red Head crew to the Boston Food Fair, to which they went, without displaying a single scowl for the manager had said, in his frenzied telegram, that the sight of Red Head Day, when folks who are crowned with auburn tresses can view without favors, or even passes!

Whereupon Red Tops, sandy tops and tan, male and female, large and small, assembled at the Food Fair, and the sight of the setting sun was the signal for the fun to begin.

By all in all, 'twas a colorful day at the Food Fair, and a profitable one, too, for the only drawback was the terrible curse of a traffic cop—for a couple of hours, in accordance with tradition and time to time, wrecking the gaze with the hands of Jupiter Pluvius, who had planned to rain on the ball and smother its arrival in a deluge of water, but who changed his mind, "Shucks, I'm a sport, I'm a good fellow, I'm a regular fellow, I'm a jolly fellow, I'm a jolly good fellow, I'm a jolly good fellow, I'm a jolly good praised to come "if you think you need me." They sent a call for him within a week.

HUGHES MAKES PLEA TO YOUNG VOTERS

NEW TREND OF SENTIMENT.

Insofar as leaders are saying that the decision of local Republican leadership call Mr. Hughes at this time was a State that was considered a few months ago to be overwhelmingly republican, in this campaign at least, substantiates their claim that public sentiment is swinging to Freeldt Wilson.

Mr. Hughes spoke in Hartford this morning and in Providence this afternoon.

He will arrive at the South Station at 6.10 o'clock tonight and will go at once to the Copley-Plaza for dinner. Mrs. Hughes is making the trip with him and is expected to attend the rally.

Mr. Hughes will speak shortly after 8 o'clock and will leave at 11.45 tonight for New York State.

As the rally is under the auspices of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, President Lewis Parkhurst will preside and introduce the presidential candidate.

Governor McCall's friends, provoked by the arrangements, are pointing out that John W. Weeks' political workers are in control of the machine.

Under cover of the big presidential campaign, a bitter fight is being waged by the McCall faction to wrest control of the State Committee from Weeks and Lodge.

Chairman Fuller will not be a candidate for reelection. He is trying to persuade the nine members of the committee that George A. Bacon of Springfield should be the new chairman, but other Weeks members are working to elect "Billy" Garrelon of Newton, the junior Senator's home town. It is said that Thurston will finally be swung into line for Garrelon.

FIGHT FOR BULLOCK.

When Governor McCall started his western county tour at Springfield his friends noticed that Bacon was absent, for the first time in years.

Governor McCall's managers are determined to elect Chandler Bullock of Worcester as chairman. With the election of Bullock they will be in a position to "clean out" some of the Weeks attaches who have held the responsible jobs year after year.

John F. Fitzgerald in his campaign speeches today branded Henry Cabot Lodge as "the worst reactionary who ever sat in the United States Senate."

Fitzgerald asked Lodge to explain why he voted against the Federal Reserve Act, which, Fitzgerald said, took the control of currency out of the hands of Wall Street and prevented Wall Street from creating financial panics in the future.

Meanwhile a group of forward-looking citizens, headed by Charles Dunbar Hunt, former Governors Walsh and Foss, Joseph Walker and Professor Louis J. Johnson of Harvard, are continuing their fight to secure a favorable vote on the initiative and referendum in the thirty-six representative districts in which the question will appear upon the ballot at the State election.

Hughes Hits Military Lack of Preparedness

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 26.—In a special appeal to the young voters of America in support of Charles Evans Hughes, the Brooklyn Academy of Music was filled with full force at the administration's preparedness program, declaring "the lack of military preparation has caused disaster."

Requesting "the elders to stand at this viewpoint and catch the vision of the future," and declaring "that if the Republican nominee proclaimed himself 'always a Republican and always a progressive,' and added, 'What sort of a country does young America think with patriotism, desire.' Then he let go his bolts at President Wilson's national defence policy.

SHOCKINGLY LACKING.

"Young America must desire a country that is prepared for every emergency," he declared. "We have been shockingly lacking in adequate military preparedness. Great appropriations are now made, but these themselves direct the most serious attention to defects in method, in organization and raise the question of necessity of most efficient supervision of these vast expenditures by competent administrative heads. It is idle to appropriate money for military and naval preparation if we have not first-class business ability in the management of these departments.

"The lack of military preparation is beyond debate. It was revealed at the Mexican border when, to avoid bandit incursions, our entire national guard was summoned. The exigency was not of the most serious character, and we were in peace with abundant opportunities for effective mobilization. Yet we had grave delays, a revelation of a weak and inadequate system, of an army ill-equipped, deficient in rifles, shoes, uniforms and horses. In addition, a large number of men were physically unfit for duty.

"In the Eastern department, where about 35 per cent of the militia is located, embracing many of the best organizations, I am informed that there was a lapse of nearly four months the quota is 50,000 men short of the 125,000 men called for. There were raw recruits wholly untrained, and the estimate is that less than 30 per cent of the number inspected had received one year's training in the guard, which means from fifty to one hundred hours of military drill a year."

FAILED TO WAKE UP.

He charged the administration with having failed to wake up in time to the imperative need of preparedness.

"A world in arms and a Mexican border provocative of trouble, with the very peril that we finally encountered staring us in the face, appropriate measures were delayed," he said. "The President informed Congress in December, 1914, that the administration would not change its attitude because some among us are 'nervous and excited.' It was said that the country had been misinformed; that the administration had not been negligent of the national defence.'

"This was four months after the outbreak of the European war and nearly eight months after Vera Cruz. Secretary Garrison had recommended in his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, 'the existing organization,' which composed the aggregate mobile forces of the regular army, should be filled up to their full strength.

"This, he said, would require 25,000 men. He also said that with this increase there should be authority to obtain 1,000 officers. I understand that this recommendation was ignored. I am also informed upon competent authority that had there been the addition to the regular army then desired by Secretary Garrison, it would not have been necessary to send our National Guard to the border.

"I speak in terms of the highest praise of the patriotism of the Guard, but I think it a serious criticism of our military organization that we should be compelled to send men from their peaceful pursuits to the Mexican border for police duty because we had not a regular army large enough for the purpose. What was needed on the part of the administration, was not exhortations, not wholly devoid of 'nervousness,' but the businesslike action demanded by the condition of the times. One of the very strong men the President gathered about him left the Cabinet rather than be responsible for seriously mistaken policy.

Take a look at these men's $22 cheviot suits

THE trouble has been that so many men did take a look at the first group and such a large percentage liked that look that temporarily there was scurrying around to do the replenishing act.

WHY SO NOTEWORTHY?

FIRST REASON—the material, a cheviot with a slight nap that wears and looks well.

SECOND REASON—colors, brown, blue, green.

THIRD REASON—the weight of the suit. A happy medium weight for men who spend much time in offices and indoors generally.

FOURTH REASON—the styles. Patch pockets, double-breasted or single, stubby lapels and other marks of newness.

Another headliner—men's chinchilla overcoats $15

WE are quite willing to have you form your opinion of Filene values by this Exhibit A.

Blue chinchilla overcoats with satin yoke and sleeve linings.

$15 the price—this being but one example picked from a representative line.

AUGOPHONE TO WAFT VOICE OF BILLY SUNDAY TO SINNERS

Billy Sunday's sombrero-shaped wings will hang eight feet above his head while he preaches in the tabernacle. These wings are made of metal and are designed to throw out his voice so that the sinner in the farthest corner of the tabernacle may hear his pleadings.

"Joe" Spiese, architect of the tabernacle, heard Billy Sunday in one building to great disadvantage and said "he would fix that."

So he experimented and made one large wing measuring sixteen feet in width and forty-eight feet in circumference and placed it over his head.

"But that didn't answer," said Joe Spiese, telling how he came to invent the wings. "I said to myself, this monster will do something. So I tried the six-wing plan, and it worked all right. These metal wings are all fastened together. They work now like a charm. People come into the tabernacle and look around and wonder how Mr. Sunday can be heard in such a building. But I tell them to wait till my augophone is ready.

THROW OUT VOICE.

Mr. Sunday has thanked me again and again for this plan. When I first saw Mr. Sunday working hard at his preaching and not getting his words over a building, it made me hurry to find this plan. Now I can hear him everywhere in the tabernacle.

"These wings throw out the sound of his voice throughout the room. People will be surprised to hear his voice all over that tabernacle. A whisper can be heard 100 feet away from the platform by these wings."

Lawrence barbers have written to the Rev. James A. Walker, Billy Sunday's assistant, and asked for the privilege of shaving the evangelist.

"He uses an old-fashioned razor and he doesn't use anything else," said Sunday's assistant. "He knows how to shave himself."

Boiler rooms in Haverhill are being used for noon prayer meetings in many factories of Haverhill.

"We are glad to get them because they are better heated and are quiet," was the report sent to the Sunday headquarters in Tremont Temple.

PROGRAM OF EVENTS.

The following events will take place in connection with the Sunday campaign:

October 28—10:30 a. m., Assistant Walker will speak in Lawrence at the Union Presbyterian Church; 2:15 p. m. in the theatre at Lynn; 6 p. m., First Congregational Church, Charlestown; 7:30, South End Union Presbyterian Church.

October 30—Business men's dinner, City Club.

November 5—Dedication of the tabernacle, with Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, resident Methodist bishop, as speaker.

November 8—Day of prayer in twelve centres with continuous services from 2 to 9 p. m.

November 12—Billy Sunday's first meeting in the tabernacle.

Thanksgiving Day—Billy Sunday will preach 10:30 a. m. and in the evening after a great song service.

November 23—Meeting of the Men's Bible Classes, with the Rev. F. F. Peterson in charge.

HYMN BOOKS SOLD.

Hundreds of the Billy Sunday hymn books have already been sold. Bibles will be sold in the restaurant.

"The big liquor "oil" on the fence in front of the tabernacle has changed to an "oil" for flour.

"That's the way to do it; nothing better than flour in homes," declared the Rev. Dr. D. M. Lockrow, the Boston minister who has been fighting liquor signs in elevated trains and on fences. "If liquor was exchanged for flour, we wouldn't need Billy Sunday in Boston."

The choir rehearsals in the tabernacle are: Choir No. 1, November 2, 8 p. m.; Choir No. 2, November 3, 8 p. m. Each of these choirs is composed of 2,000 voices. More tenors are desired. The soprano groups are filled.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

Tell your mother

will heal your skin

"If she will wash those sore, itchy places twice a day with Resinol soap and hot water, and then put on a little Resinol Ointment, I am sure the trouble will soon disappear."

That is good advice. Patches of eruption may not be anything serious at first, but they cause so much discomfort and so often develop into eczema, or other severe ailment, that it pays to use the Resinol treatment right away.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap have been prescribed by physicians for many years, and contain nothing which could possibly injure the tenderest skin. Sold by all druggists. For free sample of each, write to Dept. 6-R., Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

WOUNDED GUNMAN SEEN IN BOSTON AS POLICE SEARCH

Providence, Oct. 26. — The police stranger that has been spread all over New England for the heads of the white slave system which has been operating in this city for several months and which was revealed by the murder of Cosimo Di Nuccio, a Providence restaurant keeper, bids to close today, and the arrest of one or more of the system's gunmen is expected within a few hours.

Clews followed by local inspectors in their hunt for the slayers of Di Nuccio have led them through the channels of the underworld to Boston, Chelsea, Clinton and Worcester in Massachusetts, to Portland, Me., and to Hartford, Ct., and in each of these cities various branches of the white slave system have concealed and covered the tracks of the fugitives. Numerous agents of the system have supplies the gunmen with funds to continue their flight and have spirited them away at the approach of the police.

The same sources are believed to be harboring the sister of Joseph Maasa, relis, the Chelsea man, who was stabbed to death by an unknown assailant at the North Ferry landing, Chelsea, Clinton and Worcester in East Boston, and who is thought to have paid the penalty of an informer with his life.

In their search for the slayers the police are also hunting for clews to the whereabouts of a score or more of girls who have been reported missing from their homes and who are believed to have fallen victims of the system.

Information was received from Hartford, Ct., today that one of the men sought by the police for the Di Nuccio murder is hiding in that city and that Chief Hutler and the entire police force of that city are searching for him.

It also became known here today that a man answering the description of Thomas de Russi, one of the alleged assassins of Di Nuccio was seen in Boston late Tuesday afternoon. De Russi, who is also known under several aliases, was shot in the right hip during the gun battle in Di Nuccio's restaurant and was later treated by two physicians and hidden in three different houses in Chelsea, Mass., when the police were hot on his trail.

A man believed to have been de Russi was seen on an East Boston ferry boat in Boston shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He apparently was unable to bend his right leg, which he dragged after him as he walked. He carried a cane and was assisted by a young woman. They left the car at Tremont and West Newton streets. The Boston police have been notified and are working on this clew in that city in the hope of unearthing a possible hiding place of the system in the South End of Boston.

The local authorities are amazed at the extent, power and resourcefulness of the white slave system brought to light in their investigation of the Di Nuccio slaying. While it has not been established that the headquarters of the system is in this city, it is known that the system in one form or another is in operation in practically every city in New England and that hundreds of innocent girls in this and other cities have been sold into the bondage of immorality.

TRAFFIC IN GIRLS.

The traffic in young girls in this city and other parts of New England is said to have practically doubled since the recent white slave exposure in New York city. The activities of the New York authorities struck terror into the hearts of several of the leaders of the system who fled from New York to Providence and other places and immediately set to work to re-establish their outcast organizations in this territory.

A string of restaurants scattered all over Providence has been one of the principal channels of the white slave system, and the choking of this channel by the system's feud with Di Nuccio brought the organization into the limelight and gave the police an opportunity to get underneath the surface of the system's operations.

These restaurants are used by the system as a "blind." The waitresses are white slaves and the earnings from their immorality go to swell the coffers of the system. A girl seldom stays in one place more than two or three weeks at a time.

DI NUCCIO PAID PENALTY.

Di Nuccio was slain, it is alleged, because he refused to re-employ a waitress whom he had discharged and whose place had been taken by a girl who was outside the pale of the system. Di Nuccio was warned he would be killed unless he acceded to the demand of the system, but he remained firm, and on the night of October 11 three alleged members of the system walked into his restaurant at No. 10 Atwells avenue and gave him another chance to change his mind. Di Nuccio refused. The three men then drew revolvers and commenced to shoot. Di Nuccio fell mortally wounded, but he also drew a revolver and returned the fire.

The three gunmen, the police say, were Michele Fontano, Alfredo de Russi and Thomas de Russi. The last-named, who is believed to have been seen in Boston on Tuesday, was shot in the right hip during the gun fight and badly wounded.

After shooting Di Nuccio the assassins fled to a house in Bradford street but were driven from there to Boston in an automobile and the police took up the chase.

Fontano, whose home is thought to have been in Philadelphia, has also lived in Chelsea and Worcester, Mass. Alfred de Russi had previously been arrested in Worcester for carrying concealed weapons. He is also known in Chelsea and in Springfield, Mass. Thomas de Russi, the wounded man, has lived in Boston, Chelsea, Worcester and Hartford, Ct. Alfred de Russi, whose red hair is one of his distinguishing characteristics, is said to have dyed his hair since the shooting to throw the police off his trail.

"Yes!" or "No!" Mr. Hughes?

The foremost publicists and literary men of the United States, on August first last, addressed you in the following open letter:

TO THE HON. CHARLES E. HUGHES:

The professional writers who sign this letter have small interest in parties but a very deep interest in democracy. It is our hope, through this voluntary association, to assist in the promotion of honest, educational discussion in order that fundamental issues may not be decided in prejudice and ignorance.

Mr. Wilson's beliefs have been expressed in law and in declared policies. He has made an open record by which he may be judged. Wise choice is not possible unless you, yourself, make equally specific statement of purposes and convictions.

Without intent to offend, we feel justified in charging that in no single public utterance have you filed a bona fide bill of particulars, nor have you offered a single constructive suggestion.

Generalities are without value. Blanket criticism is worthless. What we desire to know, what it is fair that the electorate should know, are the exact details of your disagreement with President Wilson.

What has he done that you would not have done, and what has he failed to do that you would have done or proposed to do? Honesty and patriotism demand that you put yourself on record in such a manner as to permit people to judge you as they are now able to judge President Wilson. For example:

1—Would you have filed instant protest against the invasion of Belgium and backed up that protest with the United States Navy?

2—It is arrant nonsense to talk about action that would have prevented the Lusitania tragedy. The vague advertisement did not appear until shortly before the hour of sailing. The occurrence was one of those things that civilization has made the world regard as incredible. The only honest question is this: Would you have made the disaster the subject of diplomatic negotiations or would you have broken relations with Germany at once?

3—Would you have urged upon Congress an embargo upon the shipment of munitions to the allies?

4—Would you urge universal compulsory military service?

5—You are frank in stating that Huerta's morals were of no concern to America. Does this mean that you would have recognized Huerta?

6—As matters stand today, would you be in favor of intervening in Mexico?

7—Does your attack upon the Wilson shipping bill mean that you are in favor of ship subsidies?

8—You speak enthusiastically of the rights of the worker. Does this imply that you endorse the Clayton Anti-Trust Law and the Seaman's Bill? Or will you urge their repeal?

9—What are your specific complaints against the Federal Reserve Law?

10—As Governor of New York, you opposed the Income Tax Amendment. Does this antagonism persist? Do you or do you not believe in paying for preparedness out of a tax on incomes, inheritances and munitions?

We agree with you that it is a "critical period," by far too critical, indeed, for candidates to talk in terms of office-seeking rather than in the simple, earnest language of definite Americanism.

Respectfully, (Signed)

"WAR?" Mr. Hughes?

Things have happened since the above questions were asked, Mr. Hughes.

You have stated repeatedly that you and Theodore Roosevelt are in complete accord on all matters.

Colonel Roosevelt says that if he had been President when the Lusitania was sunk he would have seized every ship in our ports flying the German flag.

That would have meant war!

Would you have seized these German ships?

Would you have foregone diplomacy and provoked war with Germany?

As the candidate of a great party for the Presidency you must tell the American people what you would have done.

Your determined silence can mean but one thing:

You would have brought about war!

This completely removes the hair, but to avoid disappointment, get the delatone in an original package.—Advertisement.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

BAY STATE REGIMENTS TO BE SCATTERED IF ORDERS STAND

By BERT FORD.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 26.—Unless the quartermaster-general of the army, in Washington, is induced to change routing orders, the Eighth and Ninth Massachusetts Infantry Regiments will be scattered before they reach Boston.

The out-of-town companies will be distributed to their home stations at Worcester, thereby crippling both regiments for parade purposes.

The only official who can prevent this and who can afford the people of Boston the pleasure of seeing two regiments of the Second Massachusetts Brigade at war strength on their return from four months of service on the Mexican border is the man at the head of the quartermaster bureau.

CAN BE CHANGED.

Whether he will fix it depends on the pressure brought to bear by official circles in Boston. The quartermaster-general also can arrange matters so that both regiments may reach home at the same time although they are to travel over different routes.

The Eighth is scheduled to travel over the Southern route by way of New Orleans and the Ninth by way of Kansas City and Chicago. The Ninth's route is three days shorter. On that account the Eighth is to be sent away first from El Paso, possibly as early as Friday, and the Ninth on Saturday or Sunday, although the tardiness of the Georgia troops in arriving has upset calculations several times in the past week and may again.

General E. Leroy Sweetser, commanding the Bay State brigade, said today:

"I am heartily in favor of having the Ninth and Eighth Regiments parade in Boston in their entire strength, instead of having companies sent to home stations from Worcester on our way home.

"But the only person who can change present orders is the quartermaster-general. He should be requested to make the necessary arrangements through the officials at home. I, of the Boston AMERICAN and other newspapers get busy.

BELL WILL INDORSE PLAN.

"As matters stand we must follow directions, although I know general

Elliott Turns Down $25,000 Increase in Salary

President Howard Elliott of the New Haven Railroad has made one of the biggest refusals on record.

He refused a pay raise of $25,000 a year, which was offered him to go to another system.

His present salary is $75,000. The raise would have meant a jump to $60,000, or an even $5,000 a month. But Mr. Elliott turned it down.

In telling about this offer and explaining his reluction to the New Haven stockholders at the annual meeting in New Haven Mr. Elliott said:

"If my health penits I shall remain at the head of the New Haven system and do my best to restore the property. I have no intention of resigning."

Bell will indorse anything we request. It will go to the quartermaster-general who probably will consent if the matter is explained satisfactorily. I shall discuss the subject with General Bell today."

Colonel Edward L. Logan said: "It seems a pity that the Ninth Regiment cannot march through Boston on its return instead of losing five companies at Worcester under routing orders. As General Sweetser suggests, the quartermaster-general is the man to change it. The matter should be attended to at once. Naturally the men are eager to reach their homes, but if our out-of-town companies continue through to Boston it will be an easy matter to land them at their home stations later the same day.

"Under the present orders F Company, of Lawrence, G of Worcester, I of Natick, K of Clinton and M of Lowell would be diverted to their destinations at Worcester. This would leave the ten companies to march through Boston, a reduction of 400 men, as our companies average more than 100 men and we have fifteen companies."

WILL PARADE, ANYWAY.

"I shall parade the Ninth on our arrival with ten companies if the orders are not changed by the quartermaster-general. I think a mobilization of all the State forces that saw service on the border may be arranged later."

Lieutenant-Colonel William H. Perry, acting colonel of the Eighth, is as anxious as General Sweetser and Colonel Logan to bring complete regiments to Boston. General Sweetser explained that with the sanction of the quartermaster-general it would be possible so to delay or hasten the Eighth and Ninth as to cause them to reach Boston together.

Popular opinion is that the actual return embodies more significance than a later torrnent of the brigade, as it marks another epoch in the history of the Massachusetts militia, despite the fact that the expected war did not materialize.

LOST CHINESE BOY FOUND IN MEDFORD

Chen Rung Pong, a fifteen-year-old Chinese boy, who came all the way from California to Boston to visit Uncle Fong, was found in Medford early today on an elevated car by Patrolman Clabby, who took him to the Medford police station.

Pong met his uncle but the two became separated on the way from the South Station to Uncle Pong's home. Unable to speak a word of English, young Pong wandered to Medford.

EPISCOPALIANS TO HAVE CONFESSION

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—Clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church will no longer advise dying persons as to the disposal of their property, if the House of Bishops concurs in an action taken in the House of Deputies of the Church General Convention in session here.

The ruling must be approved by the House of Bishops. It was adopted only after vigorous protests. Judge Joseph Packard of Baltimore, chairman, was forced to decide a deadlock in the vote.

Provision was made also for the first time in the history of the church for voluntary confessional, followed by absolution. The lower house approved a recommendation to insert in the service for the visitation of the sick, a rubric directing that the sick person shall be moved to make a special confession of his sins, if he feels his conscience troubled with any matter, after which confession the minister shall assure him of God's mercy and forgiveness.

The House of Deputies adopted, for the first time in the history of the church, a prayer for the dead. This action also is subject to the concurrence of the House of Bishops.

The House of Deputies adopted a resolution urging members of the church to be total abstainers from intoxicating liquors, especially at social functions.

Right Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, Bishop coadjutor of southern Ohio, attacked what he characterised as emotional evangelism as "sensational commercial and creating irreverence." He said he did not know what good had come to Pittsburgh, Columbus or Philadelphia through "emotional evangelism."

TWO FRIENDS OF 'ABDUCTED' ROYER GIRL NOW MISSING

Fourteen-year-old Josephine F. Kessler, who has been missing from her home at No. 1 Charles street, Dorchester, and who was reported to have gone away with Marion Cochrane, a missing fourth Royer girl, was found today working in a braid factory on Tileston street, in Roxbury, by Detectives Smith and Fields, Center Police Station. Her parents, who are no living together, were notified. Her father, City Councilman Fred L. Kessler of Quincy, arrived at the station first.

The girl told the police, it was said, that she preferred to live with her mother, and that she thought her mother needed the daughter's help. The mother was trying to keep the girl in school, formerly, but found it necessary to put her to work. The girl was told to come to the Fields Corner station. She was allowed to go to her lodging in the South End first to get her things. The landlady told Williams that the girl went out mornings to obtain baths after work, and had remained in the house two days.

Josephine makes the second missing girl found in twenty-four hours. Marion Cochrane, 14, and Ida Doering, who are reported missing from the home of her sister, Mrs. Minnie W. Hosking of No. 38 Clarkson street, Dorchester, was found safe at the home of another sister, Mrs. H. F. Littlehale of Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury.

MYSTERY OF NOTE CLEARED.

The mystery over a letter on light Josephine Kessler was said to have left behind her stating that she was going to see Ernestine Royer of No. 813 Huntington avenue, was cleared up with the finding of Josephine.

Ernestine Royer is a younger sister of Mildred Royer, the girl who left home and was found in Winchester by Agent Eben Sears of the New England Watch and Ward Society. The case led to the arrest the next day of Chester H. Reynolds of Arcadia park, Somerville, on a charge of attempted abduction.

When Josephine Kessler left home she dropped a letter addressed to Ernestine Royer saying she was going to see Ernestine on Sunday last. She knew Ernestine slightly, but also did not have any particular plan in writing she was going to call, and, as it came out, did not see her at all.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25-CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this. Your hair appears glossy, abundant, wavy and beautiful.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp which, if not remedied, causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on fluffy lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become easy to do fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable softness of softness; but what will please you most will be, after a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.—Advertisement.

How to Judge a Woman by Her Hair

There are always the well-known and semi-humorous methods, such as saying brunettes are quick-tempered. But there is real common sense in noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge a woman's neatness. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good preparation made expressly for shampooing. You can enjoy the very best by getting some canthrox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water when your shampoo is all ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is, its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

Have on hand a full pint of Mentho-Laxene syrup that checks and aborts colds, relieves coughs and gradually brings permanent relief. The full and best benefits are derived if you begin taking it at the very outset of a cold or cough—because you can check or abort the cold—and save many hours of distress and perhaps ward off pneumonia and other serious results of neglected cold.

Mentho-Laxene is pure, contains no opiates or narcotics. It is pleasant, penetrating, healing and curative beyond any preparation you can buy ready made. Full directions and guarantee are with every bottle of Mentho-Laxene. It will more than please you or The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, will refund your money.

Hundreds of thousands of bottles of Mentho-Laxene have been sold, and not over 50 people have wanted their money back. That tells how good it is.—Advertisement.

CARRANZA SAID TO BE PRISONER

pective, possibly real, "man of the hour." With every Villa gain the power of First Chief Carranza trembles more and more in the balance.

The situation, from the Washington standpoint, is filled with serious possibilities, so much so that the American forces now in Mexico and along the border will be kept there for an indefinite period.

CARRANZA HELPLESS.

While reports conflict, the general situation is believed to be as follows:

Carranza is practically helpless at Queretaro and, in latest dispatches, is even reported to be a virtual prisoner of war by General Obregon. It is likewise reported that he is planning to flee the country after his expected defeat at the coming election. The Villistas, flushed with their victory over the Carrancistas at Palomas, moved upon Chihuahua, the fall of which, according to latest reports, is imminent. A confidential report from General Funston at San Antonio states that General Jacinto Trevino, the Carranza commander at Chihuahua, has begun evacuating the city.

On the other hand, an El Paso dispatch quotes General Gonzales at Juarez as saying he received a message from General Gavira denying any and all reports that Chihuahua had fallen and declaring "all was quiet" there.

The capture of Chihuahua will be a staggering blow to Carranza.

Another fruitful cause of panic-stricken men and women—refugees from Chihuahua—arrived at El Paso today, the fifth in as many days.

TREVINO NEEDS SUPPLIES.

General Trevino, Carranza commander at Chihuahua, is short of supplies and ammunition, having been driven from leads in the Palomas battle, they assert. By distributing the captured supplies Villa is gaining strength steadily, the refugees say, and has withdrawn a few miles west of Chihuahua pending the arming of 1,500 men who have joined him.

Rumors that Villa had threatened to kill all who refused to join him when he starts to take Chihuahua also reached El Paso.

Issuance of overcoats and Winter supplies to the guardsmen on the border began today, indicating they were due for a long stay. It is known all cavalry commands are being kept in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

State and War Department officials here today admitted that, should Chihuahua again fall into Villa's hands, there was every indication that Carranza's northern commanders, including General Trevino, the Chihuahua commander himself, would flock to the Villa standard.

WOULD OUST CARRANZA.

Before such a combination Carranza would have no alternative but to retire. Those close to the State and War departments who hitherto have scouted the accuracy of reports of Villa's increasing prestige today found no denial to the fact that he was again gaining.

It is known here that the quiet Legalista movement, which has enlisted promises of Villa's support in the field, embodies a well-thought-out plan for a campaign against the principal cities of the northern main states.

It is not believed here that the waning cause of Carranza has been strengthened by the First Chief's declaration of his candidacy for the Mexican presidency at the forthcoming election.

RUMANS BLOW UP BIG BRIDGES

artillery in Cernavoda is shelling Rumanian positions fourteen miles away on the western side of the Danube.

The military critic of the Overseas News Agency, in writing today on the victories of the German allies in Dobrudja, says:

"By the capture of Cernavoda, Field Marshal von Mackensen's army definitely turned the military situation in Dobrudja in our favor. The right wing of the Bulgar-Turco-German army marched ahead twelve miles beyond Constanza. That movement made the capture of Medjidie certain, since the town was already threatened by a flank movement.

"The Russo-Rumanian position is being rolled up from the east, and also from the chief point of support on the Danube, Rasshova had to be given up by the Rumanians. When Rasshova was evacuated the German allies then stood before the Danube bridgehead at Cernavoda. The railroad line from Constanza to Cernavoda is now completely in the hands of the German allies, and hence, together with captured locomotives and cars, a first-class base of operations.

"Rumania's military situation during the past few days has become much more critical, especially as Austro-Hungarian forces have conquered or partly conquered Carpathian passes."

The Dajobe bridge, which is playing such an important part in the eastern Rumania theatre, was built by an English Company in 1860, and acquired by the Rumanian government in 1887. Cernavoda is at the eastern terminus and Fetesthi at the western. The structure consists of an iron bridge about 1,000 yards in length, over the Hottcha arm of the river, with several viaducts eight miles long and eighteen feet high over the marshy land, and of a second bridge about one mile long over the main Danube arm. It is the only bridge over the Danube between Belgrade and the Black Sea.

On the Transylvanian frontier General von Falkenhyn has smashed his way through Vulcan pass, midway between Red Tower pass and the Iron Gate of the Danube.

Sweeping down in three columns, he has made a further advance on Kimpolung, which stands on the edge of the vast Rumanian plain and gaining further ground in Predeal Pass, is menacing the junction point of the railways from Czernowitz and Odessa.

BOY THIEVES LOCK CLERK IN ICE BOX

Henry Hermes, employed as a clerk in a grocery store at No. 37 Highland street, Roxbury, was locked in the refrigerator of the store by two boys, whose attempt to rob the cash register was frustrated by the appearance of a customer. They escaped.

The boys asked for ham, and as Hermes stepped to the refrigerator, the big door was locked behind him and he was held prisoner until released by the customer.

Hamlin Praises Federal Reserve

Frank W. Whitcher of Brookline was elected president of the Massachusetts Board of Trade at the Hotel Vendome. He succeeds John H. Corcoran.

Charles S. Hamlin, member of the Federal reserve board, spoke on "The Federal Reserve System." He was enthusiastic over the work of the Federal reserve banks and he contrasted the efficiency of the system sharply with that proposed under the Aldrich bill.

"All the twelve banks," he said, "are earning their expenses."

GUARD EVIDENCE IN SMALL CASE

Mountainview, N. H., Oct. 26.—A piece of wire and other articles taken from the ruins of the Small cottage on the shore of Lake Ossipee are being closely guarded by Carroll County officials. It is expected these pieces of evidence will be introduced as important factors at the trial of Frederick L. Small, confined in the county jail on a charge of murder, in having killed his wife, Florence Arlene, on September 28, and then burning the bungalow to cover all traces of the crime.

State Attorney Tuttle of Manchester has twice visited the jail and interviewed Small in an attempt to ascertain if the accused purchased a candle or time fuse, believed to have been used in causing the fire after the brutal murder of the woman.

The officials refuse to divulge what information, if any, they have secured from the defendant.

EXAMINE HANDKERCHIEF.

The handkerchief found by two fishermen in the cellar of the ruins and believed to be the property of one of the occupants of the house, has been turned over to the prosecuting authorities.

The handkerchief has been sent to a Boston chemist for examination, to determine if the spots on the linen are of human blood, and the answer will be of importance as showing that the handkerchief was probably used by the murderer.

Searchers employed by local authorities continue to search the ruins for important evidence that might assist in unravelling the most brutal murder committed in the Granite State for many years.

Rumors that Small has made several attempts to commit suicide in his cell in the county jail will not be confirmed or denied by the officials, but it is known that an extra guard has been placed at the cell door of the accused to keep him from inflicting any injury to himself.

INSURANCE UNPAID.

It was learned today that the second premium of $600, due last September on the joint life insurance policy of Mr. and Mrs. Small had not been paid, and this is taken as important evidence for Small that he did not kill his wife for the $20,000 life insurance.

The prisoner is getting weak from confinement. He has refused the services of a physician to treat him declaring he does not believe in treating with medicines, as he is a believer in Christian Science.

Friends of Small also say his wife was a follower of the teachings of Mrs. Eddy and that was the reason physicians were not called when she was ill, as she was aided by Christian Science reading.

Small claims that when he is placed on trial and the truth known, residents will learn of the domestic happiness of the couple, and his sufferings from the loss of his companion by the brutal murder.

Private detectives employed by counsel for Small to secure evidence in his behalf have been in town this week investigating clews that might lead to the arrest of another person charged with the crime and secure the release of Small.

WEST END MAN IS KNIFE VICTIM

Albion Anderson, twenty-one, of No. 28 Howard street, West End, is at the Massachusetts General Station, suffering from knife wounds in the abdomen alleged to have been inflicted by a companion in a fight last night. The name has been placed on the docket.

Two Fort Strong privates, Jacob Schmidt and Frederick Redmond have been placed under arrest as a result of the affray.

The quarrel started after remarks had been made to soldiers by boys at the corner of Howard and Bulfinch streets. The soldiers started to chase them when Anderson interfered. Knives were drawn in the fight that followed. John Barry of Allston street, West End, was slightly cut while trying to separate the men.

FELL FROM LOFT; HURT; THEN WELL

How a Man Who Landed on Wood Pile and Was Sore From Head to Foot Found Quick Relief.

Once upon a time Edwin Putnam, who lives in the quiet, pretty hamlet of Wendell Depot, Mass., climbed up into a loft to get some building material. Just as many another man living in the country had often done. Suddenly he slipped and fell. Ten feet below was a pile of wood, knotty and gnarled. It was a nasty tumble and Mr. Putnam was injured painfully in the back; he was covered with bruises, and was sore from head to foot.

The next day he bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment, which had been recommended to him. Within a very few hours the soreness had vanished and the lameness had disappeared. He was an active man once more.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

A BLUNT MAN IS ONE WHO IS SHARP ENOUGH AT ALL TIMES TO COME DIRECTLY TO THE POINT

Johnson "Calls" Fultz Says Memory Is Short

Chicago, Oct. 26—President Fultz of the Baseball Players' Fraternity possesses a remarkably short memory, according to President Johnson of the American League, in replying to the New York lawyer's objections to plastering fines on the Boston world champions and other major league athletes for taking part in post-season exhibitions this Fall.

The contracts which major league ball players sign contains the following clause:

"The player will not, either during the playing season or before the commencement or after the close thereof, participate in any exhibition baseball games, indoor baseball, basketball or football, unless the written consent of the club has first been given to him."

Said clause is a part of the contract in use by the major leagues and approved by President Fultz, when the Players' Fraternity presented a number of demands, many of which were granted.

The club owners, to escape the unpopularity that would be theirs for refusing to permit their players to pick up extra coin in the off season, delegated the power of consent specified in this clause of the contract to the National Commission.

In other words, when a favorite player goes to the club owner with the request to be permitted to barnstorm for a week with the prospect of cleaning up some hundreds of dollars, the club owner refers the player to the commission.

The commission refuses consent and gets itself disliked, while the club owner continues to be a "bully good fellow."

JACK DILLON MAY BE BARRED BY N. Y. SOLONS

New York, Oct. 26—It is not impossible that Jack Dillon will get into serious trouble by reason of not keeping his engagement to box Al Miceli at the Broadway A. C. next Tuesday night. While Promoter Wennerholm gave his consent to a postponement of the bout for two weeks in order that Dillon might box Mike Gibbons in St. Paul on November 7, Dr. Randolph Faile, of Miceli, has entered a strong protest against postponement, and Chairman Muldoon would if necessary have to be taken of it.

If the complaint is formally lodged with the commission Muldoon and Dillon does not furnish satisfactory reasons for postponement, he likely will draw a long suspension.

Dillon and his entire fighting entourage from a Jack Kid fight for Indianapolis, and before starting Dillon said:

"I have my right hand so severely on O'Reilly's head that I really should have won the fight, but I managed to get through the six rounds at Philadelphia and the poor left hand will be all right. The hand now is in such condition I would not box within two weeks for a $10,000 purse. I will keep my engagement with Miceli as soon as my hand gets well."

Manager Shaffer says he would make a formal statement in writing to the State Commission.

GLENN WARNER TO STAY ON PITT. JOB

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 26—Glenn S. Warner has agreed to continue his work as coach of the University of Pittsburgh football team for a period of four years. When Warner came here a year ago he signed a three-year contract.

He is well pleased in the University's athletic committee with the former Carlisle mentor's work they urged a revision of the contract to cover a longer term of years. Announcement is made Warner has agreed to extend the contract until 1926.

JABS AND JOLTS

THERE SHOULD be plenty of action on tomorrow night's card at the Tremont A. C. Jack Savage, the former tar, one of the headliners in Eddie Mack's stable, is to go against Bill Casey. There is almost bound to be lots doing. Johnny Dondon is out to knock Charley Shippert off his winning streak. This the South Boston lad should do if he keeps traveling on as he did all the way. Otherwise, Shippard, who is in top form right now, will make it three straight over the Mckerihy entrant.

JIMMY REAGAN, the Californian light weight, goes on with Harry Callen of Brockton, New England lightweight champion, at Lawrence's lasting show tonight. Reagan is substituting for Phineas Boyle of Lowell. The Californian is no slouch and Carlson probably has to have his work cut out for him.

ED CURLEY, the New York American's ringside expert, took in last night's bout at Providence between Jimmy O'Hagan and Frank Carbone. O'Hagan got the decision. It is Curley's idea that John L. Sullivan's boy has further to go to realize the prospect in the Albany boy.

HARLEY REDDEN, a New York lightweight of considerable renown, has placed himself under the management of Frank Foster of Boston. Foster is out after a match with Harry Carlson on behalf of his charge. He has signed Jack Bergen was from Larry Hussey at New Haven, Ct., and whipped Bonny Ford, Jack Waldron, Phil Barbour and Jimmy Brock among others. He's a trim little fighting machine and Foster expects to put him over big in Boston.

Levinsky Is Too Small Otherwise, He's a Riot

By RINGSIDE.

Battling Levinsky is a rare, good Queensberry personage. He's easily the brightest Hebe star springing up among the Hebrews since the day of Joe Choynski. It is likewise fair to compare him with Jim Corbett, the ring's first heavyweight who showed science had something on brute strength; if said brute strength had no speed or tricks coupled with it.

Levinsky lacks the weight and the punch. Otherwise he's supreme among the modern day assortment of ring big fellows; in fact, stands out in the light by himself. But not having the weight, or the punch, kills the battler from landing on the champion's throne until the time comes that Big Jess Willard is forced into retirement.

Outside of Willard there's no big fellow left. But he is a big fellow, as heavyweights parlay. What's more, he's really in his prime. We know that the Oklahoman is entirely too clean a liver to undo or run up his weight to 290 or 300 pounds unless Tom Fortune wills it's not known that's ruining Willard's weight.

JESS A CLEAN LIVER.

There's not a cleaner living man in the whole country than the champion. He's ever been a tidy trainer and a stickler for the Adagio life; in fact, he's clean through and through.

Levinsky sizes up the ladder but little short of the pinnacle with Wesley Frank Morris, Jim Coffey and Jess Tellton, and even Tom Cowler, Fred Fulton and Al Reich, have it's more pegs notices than the Battler of late months, he now looms up as having considerable on all those lads.

Here in Boston, and all inside of a week's time, Levinsky has proven his complete superiority over Bandy Ferguson, Cowler, Reich, Dunhoof Smith and Dillon. Against the last named at the Arena Tuesday night, Levinsky showed a lot, an amazing lot.

Dillon has been flaying all of the big boys. He even went so far as to make Morris look bad. But against Levinsky the Indianapolis Bearcat and here no false alarm—was outfought, outclassed, outhasted and outmaneuvered.

AT BEST IN BOSTON.

Levinsky is good, extremely good, and nobody knows that better than Greater Boston boxing fans, who have seen him win five important battles in less than a year's time.

Danny Morgan, his manager, said that the Battler weighed around 176 pounds for Dillon. Too bad he isn't an out-and-out 200-pounder, in fact, it's a rug-genie shame he's not a whale like Ferguson, Fulton and those sort, who have the bulk, but lack skill.

However, there would be every bit as much sense in trying to match Levinsky with Willard as with Jack Britton as there is to send Levinsky, the best of the light heavies, against Willard. He would be giving away almost 100 pounds.

Levinsky couldn't do it; the public wouldn't pay to see such a "freak" contest, as the Willard-Moran mixup was bad enough.

As for the ages, Willard will be twenty-nine in December and Levinsky twenty-six in June. It may be Champion Levinsky some day, and if it is the Hebrew will land on the throne via Big Jess' default.

NEW YORK RING TALK

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Albert Badouf, French welterweight champion, is slated to face Aggie Ratner at the Empire A. C. tonight. There will also be a ten-round bout between Frankie Daly, Staten Island bantam, and Mickey Dunn of Harlem.

BILL BRENNAN, Chicago heavyweight, will meet Tim Logan of Brooklyn, at the Clermont Rink, Brooklyn, tonight.

PHIL BLOOM, Brooklyn lightweight, and Harry Jeffs of the West Side, are to battle at Broadway Sporting Club, Brooklyn, Saturday night.

New Bedford Bantamweight Goes on with Kid Williams in Champion's Home City Tonight.

Baltimore, Oct. 26.—Prepared to meet the tigerlike rushes of "Kid" Williams, Al Shubert of New Bedford, Mass., holder of the New England bantamweight crown, has arrived for his ten-round tilt with the World's Champion tonight.

With the sturdy Massachusetts battler were his manager, Jake Miller, and a sparring partner.

Shubert claims to be in the pink of condition and his appearance bears out his assertion.

It is Shubert's first visit to Baltimore, and, despite the fact he will be slacking up against the Fighting Tiger to pile own lair, the visitor is confident of winning by the newspaper route, that is, if he fails to connect with his haymaker, as the articles of agreement stipulate that no decision is to be given by the referee.

Cigarette Smokers

Everywhere

IT'S a risky thing to advertise a cigarette unless it has the merit claimed for it. If it isn't good, it's worse off than if it hadn't been advertised at all.

So, I haven't said a thing about Lord Salisbury that isn't 100% pure. Read this next paragraph carefully and see if it doesn't solve your cigarette problem in three distinct ways.

Lord Salisbury is the only 100% pure all-Turkish-tobacco cigarette in existence that sells for as low a price as 15 cents for 20. All others cost more money.

Consequently Lord Salisbury saves you 25 per cent on your cigarette bill—and the more you smoke the more you save.

Moral—Quality Without Extravagance.

Cordially yours,

WILSON HOLDS LEAD OVER HUGHES

In the presidential postal poll of the United States, now being conducted by the Boston AMERICAN and scores of the most influential papers throughout the country, Wilson, in actual ballots received, continues to maintain his lead over Hughes in the electorial college vote of the twenty-four States from which returns have been made.

In New York, which has forty-nine votes to cast in the electorial college for the candidate that carries the State, by however small a margin, the returns as yet have come mainly from cities in which Wilson polled a big vote four years ago. In these actual returns, Wilson leads Hughes. It is in the shifts from Wilson's vote of four years ago to Hughes that the real story is told

In the detailed story, told by the tabulation of the shifts from Wilson to Hughes, which will be published in the Boston AMERICAN, Sunday, this Wilson loss is apparently serious enough to put New York's forty-nine votes in the Hughes column, if the percentages are followed out in the actual election.

Nowhere is this remarkable shift from Wilson to Hughes, amounting to almost one-third of those who voted for Wilson four years ago more apparent than in Massachusetts, and to a less degree in the other New England States. This feature of the huge post card canvass of the voters of the United States, the tables in the Sunday AMERICAN will show plainly.

But in actual straw vote returns, Wilson still leads his principal opponent, Hughes, as may be seen in the table following:

	Hughes.	Wilson.
New York	6,985	9,271
Maine	625	431
Vermont	290	245

Fitzgerald Says Lodge Deceives

Former Mayor Fitzgerald, carrying his senatorial campaign into Uxbridge, Northbridge, Milford and neighboring towns, charged Senator Lodge with misrepresenting business conditions in his cry that hard times are coming after the war, unless the Republicans are allowed to set up a protective tariff as a bar against the encroachments of cheaply made European goods.

"Mr. Lodge should tell the truth about conditions in New England," he said, "and not attempt to deceive the hard-working people who look to him for honorable leadership. He knows that at the time of the highest protection in the history of the Republican party, in 1911, one of the greatest strikes that the world has known occurred at Lawrence. Wages as low as $7.50 a week were paid to able-bodied men, while the average in the mills was found to be less than $11 a week. This occurred at a time when the Republican party was in full possession of all branches of the government and in an industry that received the highest protection.

"Mr. Lodge knows that the boot and shoe industry is the best paid industry in the world today, yet boots and shoes are on the free list, and Mr. Endicott, who is the owner of the largest shoe factory in the world, a Republican always in the past, has not only declared for Mr. Wilson, but has put his shops on the eight-hour basis.

"To do this we must have a competitive tariff that will mark the difference between wages paid across the water and here, with decent profits to the manufacturer (not extortionate profits), and living wages to the help.

"I do not think that Senator Lodge and his colleagues can fool the people any longer. It remained for the Democratic administration to put the workingmen's compensation act into effect. It remained for the Democratic administration to put the 54-hour law into effect. It remained for the Democratic administration to put the eight-hour law into effect. It remained for the Democratic administration to put the child labor law into effect.

"When I am elected to the Senate I propose to stand for still further benefits in the lines that I think will mark a greater degree of progress for the workingman and his family than any movement in the history of this country."

STOVER CRITICIZES U. S. 'PREPAREDNESS'

Citizens of Charlestown who gathered last night in the Charlestown High School to extend a welcome to Companies A, B and H of Charlestown, listened to a strenuous criticism of the government by Col. Willis L. Stover of the Fifth Regiment for the haphazard way in which supplies and ammunition was furnished the guardsmen in Mexico. He told of an occasion when the Fifth Regiment, detailed for outpost duty, had but one box of ammunition in the entire regiment. Mayor Curley proposed an elaborate banquet to the national guardsmen in the vicinity of Greater Boston and announced he would contribute $500 to a fund for the same.

STREET WIDENING OPPOSED BY HALE

The street commissioners' plan to extend Boylston place to Eliot street, near Park square, is part of a general scheme to make impossible a later widening of Eliot street, according to Richard W. Hale, who appeared before the commissioners in opposition to such of the plan as would involve destroying the Tavern Club building.

DORCHESTER LADY NOW ENDORSES IT

Mrs. M. E. Woodward Suffered with Indigestion; Claims Plant Juice Relieved Her.

People everywhere have found great relief from stomach troubles, nervousness, weakness and debility, through the use of Plant Juice, the new herbal treatment which is building up the blood and strengthening it, clears the blood of poisons and impurities, tones and invigorates the healthy action, corrects constipation, and clears the system of all malaria and biliousness. Put it to the results other Dorchester people have, it never be the demand and universal praise that it deserves. Get a bottle of it does all and more than is claimed for it.

Following is the signed testimonial of a well-known citizen which speaks for itself:

Mrs. M. E. Woodward, who resides at No. 59 Robinson Street, Dorchester, and has many acquaintances in that city, recently stated:

"For the last year I have been greatly troubled with indigestion, and could hardly keep any meat in my stomach; I was a heavy, bloated feeling in the pit of my stomach caused from gas, and I always felt tired and worn out. I could not sleep at night because of the pain; I was troubled with dizzy spells and was in a terribly rundown condition. I was nervous and weak, I could not get around to do my house work. I had taken many kinds of medicine, but none of them gave me any permanent benefit. I read about Plant Juice in the Plant Juice, as I had heard so much about it, and I must say that it is absolutely state that it does all it claims to do, for in three months' use of it one of me. I can eat any kind of food without the slightest distress and can sleep the night through. I am no nervous any more and the gas has left my system. My husband is taking Plant Juice and thinks it a great tonic.

"The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

The Frightful and Awful Sufferings of Poland's Perishing People, Whose Only Hope Is America's Charity

BEFORE you read this editorial do read the advertisement which fills the other part of the page.

We print this advertisement without charge, of course. We print it here on this page, where money cannot buy advertising space, because we are anxious to have it read by you and so to touch your heart with compassion and to enlist your help for Poland's wretched people.

There has never been in all the world such a horrid and frightful and sickening tragedy as the devastation of Poland by the savage soldiery of the Czar.

You have heard much of Belgium's sufferings. You have contributed millions upon millions of dollars in money, food and supplies to relieve the distress of the Belgian people. And you did well so to do.

But all the distress brought upon Belgium by the German invasion is not a drop of rain in a deluge compared to the hideous woe inflicted upon poor Poland.

In Belgium the invaders destroyed the city of Louvain in retaliation for civilian resistance, and they put to death, in the first few weeks of occupation, citizens of Belgium to the number, according to British estimate, of about 700.

The brutal and awful savagery of the Russian soldiery in Poland has resulted in the death by fire and sword and starvation of FOURTEEN MILLIONS of Polish men, women and children!

That is twice the number of the entire population of Belgium!

And the most damning wickedness of this awful and hideous slaughter of millions of human beings is that the savage work was done by direct order of the Russian commander-in-chief, the Czar's own uncle, the Grand Duke Nicholas.

No army ever yet invaded a country in which there were not ruffians who committed here and there dreadful acts of cruelty. This is just as true of American armies as of German armies or French armies or British armies. It is true of all armies.

But the woe and desolation wrought in Poland were not the wicked work of straggling ruffians, disgracing the discipline and arms of their comrades.

They were the awful and horrible results of deliberate orders, deliberately executed by bodies of troops under the direct supervision and command of their own officers.

The Russian soldiery first traversed Poland on the march to invade Austria-Hungary. As they moved through Poland then they contented themselves with pillage and rape and the torment and slaughter of the poor Jews. But they at least spared the cities and towns and farms and crops.

But when Hindenburg and Mackensen fell upon their hordes like thunderbolts and drove them in headlong rout back again through Poland the order went out to the savage Cossacks to slay and to burn and lay waste town and field and to spare not.

As they fled before the avenging legions of Germany and Austria, as they ran away from men with arms in their hands, these beaten and fleeing barbarians glutted their beastly cruelty and lust upon the helpless, unarmed inhabitants of Poland.

They herded old men and young boys, nursing mothers and virgin daughters together for torment, outrage and slaughter.

The simple peasant folk fled to their houses of worship, that, haply, God might deliver them out of the hands of devils.

Their tormentors pursued them there, made fast the doors, bound the men, outraged the mothers and daughters, tossed the screaming babes from one to another on the points of their cruel bayonets, and when the orgy of hellish lust and savagery was done fired the very house of God and burned their shrieking victims in one common, dreadful funeral pyre.

Nor was this enough. There was not time to hunt down and torture and kill all the poor people or even the greater part, for the Germans were hard on their coward heels. So the torch was applied to towns and to farms. Every storehouse was fired. The standing crops were burned. The whole land was left a blackened waste, that the poor wretches who had escaped crucifixion and the stake and the bayonet might die of starvation and exposure.

These savages of the Russian Czar, under the order of the Russian Czar's own uncle, destroyed over twenty thousand hamlets and villages and towns, laid waste the farms and the food supplies of a territory larger than England and caused the deaths by violence, exposure and starvation of twice as many human beings as have died in all the battles of this huge and murderous war!

The human mind cannot picture this awful tragedy in the entirety of its savage wickedness.

Russia has at last succeeded in providing the world with a spectacle of horror which is too huge and too horrible for human faculties to grasp.

And the hideous mockery and irony of it all is that this work of beasts and devils has been done in the holy names of liberty and civilization and has been hidden from the view of the world and shielded from the horrified reprobation of the world by the government and censorship of Christian and civilized England.

Worse than that remains to be told.

When these Russian savages had done their dreadful work there still remained time to save millions of Poland's suffering people from the final agonies and horrible deaths by starvation, if only some nation rich and generous enough could hear a people's cry of distress and come with aid.

And a rich and generous nation did hear that pathetic cry—our own great and rich and compassionate nation, this America of ours, which holds out its open hands of charity and bounty to all the agonized peoples of Europe.

From every part of our country came offerings for Poland. Great meetings were held, in which the auditors heaped the platforms with their offerings until the speakers stood ankle-deep in money and checks and jewelry stripped from the hands and persons of weeping men and women.

As fast as trains could haul the country's response, four huge warehouses on our docks were filled to the roofs with food and clothing and medicines for Poland's wretched people.

And there those heaps upon heaps of supplies that American charity had gathered together in eager haste to save the lives of starving women and babes in far-off Poland laid week after week until the final shameful notification came from our own American government that these offerings of humanity must not be shipped to Poland's starving people because England objected!

Russia had savagely laid waste Poland for the very purpose of starving these Polish millions in order that Germany's food supplies might be depleted to feed the wretched people. And England must see to it that the object of her noble ally, Russia, was not thwarted by American charity.

The government that filled the world with its horrified clamor over the military severities of Germany in Belgium had not a word of reprobation for the most awful wickedness ever done in the history of the world, when that wickedness was done by its ally.

And it had not only no word of reprobation for inhumanities exceeding a thousand-fold all that was ever charged against even the Turk, but it also stood by and lent a hand to help finish the damnable work. It became, and is today, an accessory after the fact and an accomplice in the murder of fourteen millions of helpless and inoffensive human beings—men and women, children and babes, old and young, all, all condemned to lingering, agonized and dreadful deaths by hunger and cold.

Not in the Dark Ages, not in Pagan eras, but in the Twentieth Century and the civilization of the modern world, Christian England stands between the charity of America and the suffering of Poland, and bars the lanes of the sea in the name of humanity and civilization and liberty!

In effect she says, by her acts, to the world:

"Charitable America may not send food to the starving children of Poland because my noble ally, Russia, who is battling with me in behalf of HUMANITY and the RIGHTS OF WEAKER NATIONS, prefers to have these fourteen million Polish men, women and children die of starvation.

"We want these five hundred thousand outraged Polish girls with their unborn babes to die. We want all the children in Poland under seven years of age to die; we want the women to die and the men to die, to the number of fourteen millions, in order to prove to the world what our interest in HUMANITY really amounts to and how much we are actually concerned for the welfare of the WEAKER STATES of Europe.

"We want Poland, like Persia, to bear bloody witness of the brutal selfishness of our real purposes and the brazen pretence of our humanitarian professions."

But enough of the hypocrisy of this most hypocritical and most ruthless of governments. The cruel edict has gone forth from London that neither food nor clothing nor medicines nor any other supplies shall go from America to Poland, and our American government has submitted to the cruel edict in the same cowardly fashion it submits to ALL British edicts.

So there is but one way in which we can aid and succor the remnant of Poland's dying people. We can still send money, thank God, without passing it through British official hands, and money will yet buy some food, even in Poland.

We do most earnestly appeal to you, good people, to give freely to this cause. Give of your abundance, if your means are abundant. Give of your scantiness, if your means are scant. But give!

And do not doubt that sometime and somewhere it shall be reckoned unto you as righteousness that you had compassion in your heart for these poor, wretched, tormented, despairing, perishing people in far-away Poland.

Can you bear to hear in your ears those dreadful, agonizing cries of the starving and dying and not reach out your hands, good friends, full of help and succor?

TO THE Great American People

It has been your glorious share in these times of war to bring relief to those of the European sufferers who otherwise would have undoubtedly ceased to exist.

You have already been generous, you have already done more than your share—we know it; and for that reason we beg to apologize for appealing to you again.

Circumstances force us to it, however. The latest reports from Poland have been of such a nature that unless we obtain more assistance from you the whole Polish nation will be wiped out of existence. Over twenty thousand five hundred villages have been levelled to the ground. More than two hundred towns have completely disappeared. Sixteen hundred churches are in ruin. Loss in property destroyed over eleven billion dollars.

More than five hundred thousand young girls of Poland have had their lives shattered by the greatest tragedy that can come to a woman.

Victims of the conquering and the retiring armies that have incessantly swept over Poland since the beginning of the war, these unfortunate young mothers, whose babies have died for want of food, clothing and shelter, find themselves outcasts—helpless, alone, having known of maternity nothing but the sorrows.

Fourteen million Poles, including all the children under seven years of age, have actually been wiped out of existence.

A prominent American, who has just returned from Poland, where he had been investigating conditions on behalf of a well-known American war relief organization, reports as follows:

"HAVING HAD OCCASION TO TRAVEL ON THE MAIN ROAD FROM WARSAW TO PINSK, ABOUT ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILES LONG, I NOTICED THAT THE GROUND WAS SIMPLY LITTERED WITH CIVILIAN GARMENTS AND CRADLES. FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND HUMAN BEINGS MUST HAVE DROPPED DEAD ALONG THAT ROAD. THE RETREATING ARMY HAD BURNED THEIR HOMES AND COMPELLED THEM TO EVACUATE THE LAND. THERE HAD BEEN NO TIME TO BURY THOSE WHO FELL. THE BIRDS OF PREY, AS WELL AS THE WILD ANIMALS, HAD CLEANED THE BONES, AND THE INVADER, AFTER GATHERING THESE BONES AND GRINDING THEM, HAD USED THEM FOR FERTILIZING THE FIELDS IN HIS OWN HOME LAND."

And now winter is coming again with all its horrors. It will bring untold misery to the homeless, sheltered, foodless Polish sufferers.

Thousands more must die. They are doomed. Help cannot reach them in time. However, out of a population of thirty-four million Poles still quite a number remain whom you can help us to save, for food can still be obtained in Poland, but only at extremely high prices.

If your mother or sister or any being dear to you could be saved at no matter what cost, would the expense stand in the way of your saving their lives? And are these unfortunate children and women of Poland not your brothers and sisters in Christ?

Only a great wave of mankind's pity can surmount so immense a wave of human misery. Only a great, enlightened and generous nation can help effectually to save the perishing Polish people. Poland is far, far away—but need it be far away from your heart?

A CONTRIBUTION FROM YOU NOW WILL UNDOUBTEDLY SAVE ONE OR MORE LIVES—A REFUSAL ON YOUR PART WILL BE EQUIVALENT TO A DEATH SENTENCE FOR AT LEAST ONE HUMAN BEING.
